PIPE REPAIR NIGHTMARE

Emergency work gives residents sleepless night

by NAZIA DEWJI
ndewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

A water company ignored a leak in a busy New Malden road for two weeks until it escalated into a full-on emergency needing late night repair works.

Residents in Burlington Road were given no notice and suffered a sleepless night as Thames Water finally drafted in builders at the last minute for a three-hour late-night repair stint on Sunday.

Residents said the company had ignored complaints two weeks before when they first raised the alarm that a chunk of the road had a leak with water spilling out of it.

Thames Water finally sent in workmen at 9.30pm and they continued to fix the leak until nearly 1am, keeping many awake, residents claimed.

Yasmean Elghaly, 24, who has lived in the road for most of her life, said her mother had to be up at 5am the next day.

She said: "There has been a leak for about two weeks and most residents reported it – it got bigger and bigger. They could have done it in the day. They let it grow and grow and get to a stage where it became an emergency in the middle of the night.

"The police even came out because of the noise. The builders all thought it was very funny. But people have work the next day."

Thames Water has come under criticism after increasing its prices in London by another 5.5 per cent from April – double the rate of inflation.

A spokesman for the company, which reported a pre-tax profit of £112.6m for the six months to October, said: "Ideally we would repair all our burst pipes immediately, but we have to prioritise the most severe ones first.

"We are sorry for the amount of time it took to get this sorted and for the late-night disturbance it caused."

Barriers down to create Greenway

by HANA HAUSMEISTER
hana.hausmeister@london.newsquest.co.uk

Barriers were brought down during a ceremony in Tolworth Broadway this week marking the start of the £3m Greenway project.

Tolworth councillors turned up to say goodbye to the first central barrier to go.

Ahead of the ceremony, project architects defended their design against an onslaught of unimpressed residents at the latest presentation last week.

Tom Sudhoff, landscape architect at Studio Egret West, the team behind the project design, said he was pleased with the final plans despite a backlash of protests.

He said: "We love the approach the council is willing to take to improve the area."

Residents at the meeting in Tolworth Tower on Wednesday last week raised concerns about the fragmented colour-scheme, the 20mph speed limit, and the traffic on the roundabout.

Mary-Ann Sorci, from Raeburn Avenue, said: "It is a waste of money. All they had to do was take the barriers down and let Tesco do all the rest.

"Twenty miles an hour at three o'clock in the morning is ridiculous. Tolworth Broadway already makes more money than any road in the area because of the parking charges."

Defending the colour scheme, Mr Sudhoff said: "We could not use lots of shrubs in that area because of the cyclists and pedestrians.

"It would be difficult to maintain.

"The scheme adds a bit of interest and visual stimulation. With one colour you tend to see chewing gum stains more easily. If you have variance of colour it detracts from that."

Future: Plans for the Greenway at Tolworth Broadway

Project manager Rod Raffell, of North Midland Construction, revealed plans for the next 24 weeks of building.

Mr Raffell said: "The nature of the job itself will mean some disruption, but at all times we will be maintaining access to the shops and businesses.

"We won't impinge on any pedestrian's movements.

"When we start the work we will go through all the businesses.

"We have got their phone numbers and we will obviously keep them informed."

The project involves suspending parking bays during off-peak hours while aiming to maintain two-way traffic.

Construction of the footways will take place first with only half of the footpath being paved at one time. Work on the roads will start in the summer.

A 20mph speed limit will affect the road from the roundabout up to Ewell Road with a 20mph restriction at the roundabout.

'Sammy' death arrest

A man has been arrested following the death of a Kingston man found unconscious on a train.

Warsame Warsame, who was known as "Sammy", died on Monday, March 4, two days after being discovered on a train at Raynes Park station.

The cause of his death is still yet to be determined, after a postmortem examination proved inconclusive.

British Transport Police launched a murder investigation in the wake of Mr Warsame's death, after reports he had been involved in a fight on a different train 45 minutes before he was found.

A 24-year-old man from Wallington was arrested on suspicion of grievous bodily harm on March 9 in connection with the incident and has been released on police bail until Monday, April 22.

Still hanging on the telephone

by HANA HAUSMEISTER

hana.hausmeister@london.newsquest.co.uk

Patients at the new Surbiton Health Centre were unable to speak to their doctor after technical faults left callers hanging on the phone for hours.

A problem with the new telephone system at the Ewell Road centre, on the site of the old Surbiton Hospital, saw some patients unable to contact their GP for up to two days in its opening week.

Several patients queued on the phone for up to an hour as they tried to call the new centre, said to be equipped with the "latest advancements in modern healthcare".

Peter Bell, from Raeburn Avenue, said he could not reach his doctor for two days.

He claimed "the old ghost of Surbiton Hospital was getting its revenge".

He said: "It is supposed to be all clever and modern, but it is not. If I tot up the hours I have tried to phone, on and off, we are talking about five or six hours. But the receptionists have been very helpful and very honest."

Another patient, who did not want to be named, said: "You could not get through.

"You phone up one of the surgeries and it gives you another number. You phone that and it is engaged, then you are on hold for 15 to 20 minutes.

"It is not right. If I was moving my business from A to B the first thing I would do is make sure my telecommunications were organised."

The centre opened its doors on March 4, as four GP surgeries from Surbiton moved in.

Patients who dialled their surgery's number should have been put through to the general reception where either of the centre's receptionists would have taken the call.

Due to faults with the line, the calls instead went straight to a busy tone. Patients were given an alternative number while the problem is resolved.

A spokesman for the Langley Medical Practice said on Friday: "The immediate problem with no line into the health centre has been resolved. Other problems are being worked on and a solution sought.

"Unfortunately the phone problems at the health centre continue to be problematic to say the least and this morning they are not working at all. We are using the Virgin network and this is apparently a problem with the local Virgin network."

As of Tuesday afternoon an automated message at Central Surgery was still acknowledging a problem and redirecting callers to a new number, which rang for more than 10 minutes with no answer.

The Kingston Guardian was referred by the practice manager of Langley Medical Practice to the facilities manager but the practice was unable to provide a phone number for him.

Late wife's jewellery stolen after break-in

Devastated: Kamyar Momeni

Deadlinepix BT74775

Sentimental value: Jewellery similar to the items stolen

Deadlinepix BT74775

A husband and his two teenage daughters returned from visiting his late wife's grave on Mother's Day to find her jewellery had been stolen by burglars.

Kamyar Momeni was devastated after burglars broke into his home and stole thousands of pounds worth of Persian gold jewellery that belonged to his late wife Frances, as well as cash and gadgets including an iPad.

The burglars cut a hole in the double-glazed patio doors through the back garden and unlocked it from the inside.

They then ransacked the upstairs bedrooms stealing the gold accrued during years of visits to Iran, where Mr Momeni was born.

Mr Momeni, from Stanley Avenue, New Malden, appealed for anyone with information about the burglary to come forward.

He said: "I can replace the gold, but it isn't going to be the same. I don't care about the amount. I can get some money back from the insurance, but the main thing for me is the sentimental value and all the memories.

"Whatever gold my daughters had, their mum bought."

Mrs Momeni died in October 2011, after a five-year battle with cancer.

by ROSS LOGAN

ross.logan@london.newsquest.co.uk

She was cremated, with half of her ashes scattered in Iran – where she travelled – and the other half buried in Hastings, where her family live.

Mr Momeni and his two teenage daughters, Jasmine, 15, and 19-year-old Soraya, travelled to Hastings to pay their respects on Sunday, March 10.

They returned home at about 8.30pm, only to find the burglars had struck.

Mr Momeni, who had been married to his wife for 20 years, said: "I was so in love with that woman. She was amazing. I've never met anyone like that in my life.

"They have stolen the memories of Frances."

The burglary is being investigated by Merton police.

Detective Sergeant Trevor Struthers said: "The burglars have gained access by breaking the glass in the back door and unlocking it from the inside.

"If anyone has been offered second hand jewellery for sale in suspicious circumstances, call the police on 020 8649 3062."

Alcohol abuse

A young man who struggled for years with alcohol abuse died of natural causes, a coroner has ruled.

The inquest into the death of Craig Baker, 27, from Angus Close in Chessington, took place at West London Coroner's Court on Tuesday, March 12.

After hearing Mr Baker was admitted to Kingston Hospital on September 19, 2011, with high levels of alcohol in his blood, assistant deputy coroner Dr Sean Cummings recorded a verdict of death by natural causes.

He was moved from accident and emergency to the intensive treatment unit and died that day after suffering a cardiac arrest.

His death was the result of a chemical imbalance brought on by alcohol abuse, and liver disease, Dr Cummings concluded.

The artistic director of the Rose Theatre has announced he is stepping down next year.

Stephen Unwin, who has been in charge of the theatre's creative output since it opened in 2008, will leave in January 2014.

The 53-year-old said his departure was "entirely amicable and straightforward" and that he was looking forward to "a bit of a rest".

Mr Unwin, a father of three, said: "I've done my reckoning. It's a long time to be artistic director of a theatre.

"I have a son with profound learning difficulties and because of that I wasn't able to move to Kingston.

"I was commuting three hours a day and it started taking its toll. It's all entirely amicable and straight forward. I love the place and I love Kingston. I'm leaving with lots of very positive feelings and a sense that it was a great thing to do."

Mr Unwin's tenure has not been without its difficulties. In its short life, the theatre has never recorded a profit without the help of a council and university subsidy, with many shows struggling to attract big audiences.

He sat with his head in his hands at a council meeting in December 2008 as arguments raged over whether to withhold the subsidy and face closing the theatre.

But Mr Unwin has also enjoyed critical and commercial success, most recently with his production of Noel Coward's The Vortex, which garnered rave reviews from several national newspapers.

Mr Unwin said: "It has been a ride. It has had some fantastic highs and some hard, challenging times.

"It hasn't been the easiest, but it's been fantastically rewarding.

"Putting a new theatre on the map is really challenging. I know there are always people who are going to snipe, but you get that with anything in life.

"For me the stuff that matters is the people that have said: 'This is a bit of a crazy dream, but let's make it work'. And I think it has.

"We have had to gain the trust, respect and affection not just of Kingston, but of the whole area.

"And I think and hope that some of the sceptics have begun to be won round."

Mr Unwin said he planned to take a sabbatical in America and write another book once he leaves the Rose.

He said: "Before the Rose I ran the English Touring Theatre for 15 years. I've got three kids and I am in my mid-50s. I'm knackered. I want a bit of a rest."

A choir of note

A Kingston University student has founded a choir for young people.

James Hall has set up Sing We Now! youth choir in the hope of introducing budding talents to a wide range of genres including pop, jazz and musical theatre.

Having moved to Kingston from his hometown of Scunthorpe to study dance and music, the 18-year-old student spotted an apparent dearth of musical societies for young people.

The choir is split into three sections – boys and girls aged seven to 11, boys and girls aged 11 to 18, and a "lads" section for just boys aged 11 to 18.

It rehearses every Sunday at the Kingston Hill campus at Coombehurst Lodge and sessions start at £4.

Dentures? Missing Teeth? ...Have you heard about fixed teeth in a day?

Imagine no movement of dentures, no palate, and no obstructions! NO PROBLEM.....

Our guess is, if you currently wear dentures or have missing teeth you would do anything to have fixed teeth again – well you can! The Denture and Implant Clinic offers the latest revolutionary techniques which are fast becoming the new way to solve missing teeth problems!

Confidence to eat and enjoy your food!

The Denture and Implant Clinic's founder Dr Justin Stewart was the first bio-functional prosthetic system qualified dental surgeon in the UK. He continued his studies determined to find better solutions for people with missing teeth and although Dr Stewart no longer practices, the clinic offers this amazing solution 'Fixed teeth' through his highly trained team.

Amazing Solutions for missing teeth

This amazing solution has been developed to allow implants to be placed in the upper or lower arch in the mouth (or both) and a bridge is fixed onto the implants which is secure leaving you confident in the knowledge that your teeth will not move. 'Fixed Teeth' is a fantastic solution for patients who are unhappy with their dentures or have been told they need dentures and want to avoid them. Our patients comment on how confident they feel after the procedure, knowing their teeth will not fall down or worse, fall out, during a conversation. The treatment means that patients can taste their food again…they have their palate back! The clinic receives numerous patients who were putting off having dentures and living in misery with painful teeth but are now pain free and happy, in some cases happier with their new smile than they were with their original smile!

Visit www.thedentureandimplantclinic.co.uk and read the success stories, you will be amazed!

Teeth being secured in the mouth

The clinic have a highly experienced and dedicated team, and each team member plays a part in ensuring the care the patient receives is an enjoyable experience. The Denture and Implant Clinic has its own dental laboratory on site. Patients will also be encouraged to bring in photographs of when they had their own teeth, and those photos are used during the reconstruction of the final bridge to perfectly replicate the smile that the patient once had.

Smile Advisor, Jennie Baker at The Denture and Implant Clinics says, "This really is an amazing new technique that will change people's lives. Living with 'False teeth' can be upsetting and difficult. Over the years we have encountered every conceivable problem patients endure, but this new fixed procedure allows patients to forget they ever wore dentures, leaving them free to enjoy their lives and have the confidence that we offer - a 100% guarantee with all our treatment!"

Please suggest names for 'Red Square' development

Local people will know that I have been involved with the future of the old Red Lion site in Tolworth for more than five years now.

We obtained planning permission back in 2009 just as the recession hit and construction funds dried up.

We teamed up with Linden Homes last year and got the project under way and it is now nearing completion, expected in June this year.

I have followed with interest the debate about the future name of the new development and I want to set the record straight and invite people to help us with fresh ideas to pick a suitable name for the development's permanent address.

I am sure people will appreciate that we live in a digital age and so a marketing name for a new development needs to be distinctive and stand out from the crowd in order to get noticed.

When we started the marketing process here, there were just so many Red Lion Squares, Courts, etc, and other variations across London and around the country (a Google search would confirm) that we feared a "Red Lion" name maybe be lost in the digital space, a critical avenue for sales.

So we picked Red Square – well that has stood out. Maybe, some would argue, not for the right reasons – but off-plan sales and letting so far have been going well and we are confident that the development will be a great success when it is formally launched next month.

Let me assure everyone, however, that Red Square is not going to be the development's permanent address.

The permanent name will be the subject, as all new developments are, of public consultation and agreement with the council and Post Office.

I would now like to invite local people, who clearly have an interest in the matter, to suggest names that we can put forward as part of the formal naming process to the council and Post Office for their consideration.

I have established the email address namesforredlion@cnmestates.com and would very much welcome your suggestions.

CNM Estates has invested £15m in this quality development and I want it to play an important part in Tolworth's regeneration together with the plans for the Broadway.

We are tidying up a long neglected prominent corner in the town and providing 50 modern apartments and three new shops, with 15 much-needed two and three-bed affordable homes for local people, car parking and a 6,000sq ft landscaped amenity deck.

I am sorry if some people felt that our marketing title was a little "too distinctive" – really no offence meant.

I hope you will all now help with suggestions for the permanent name of what I hope you will agree will be a long awaited and welcome feature on the corner of Ewell and Red Lion Roads.

WAHID SAMADY
Chairman
CNM Estates

'Red' and 'beautiful' are the same word in Russian

I was on a tour of Russia and Ukraine some 20 years ago. As part of the trip we spent two days in Moscow and visited what we called Red Square.

Our courier, Galina, told us we had got it wrong.

Like the English language, Russian has different meanings for the same word.

They call it "beautiful square" as red and beautiful are the same word in Russian.

We just picked up on the wrong interpretation. Here's hoping that the new development turns out to be beautiful.

Losing school would be act of vandalism

Kingston College of Art and Design is submitting a scheme for redevelopment on its Richmond Road site.

The Edwardian school block is to be retained and a new building erected on the site of the Penny School and the second-hand furniture store on the corner of Richmond Road and Kingsgate Road.

The planning application, which is due to go before the development committee on April 30 involves the demolition of the Penny School.

In its own day it must have been of importance as the marble foundation stone, which can still be seen, was laid by Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Clarence, later to become Queen Adelaide.

This building is not only of local historical importance, as pointed out in Marguerite Perkin's letter last week (Historic Penny is not spent yet, March 14), but under thick layers of white paint it is a modest but fine Georgian school house, a very rare survival.

It is of grey stock brick with cherry red enrichments. There are beautifully constructed flat arches above the windows built of perfectly fitted red rubbers. The interior is simple and there is evidence that it was originally panelled or boarded in timber.

It would be possible to incorporate this building into the new design without compromising the scheme too much. It stands where the new entrance lobby is proposed, and could be used as such.

To destroy this building of local historic and architectural value would be an act of pure vandalism and Kingston would lose yet another remnant of its historic past. Every effort must be made to utilise and preserve the Penny School.

Any comments to the development control committee need to be in by April 12 so action is urgent.

Spare bedrooms in social housing

You may be affected by changes to Housing Benefit from 1 April

If you rent from a social landlord – like a housing association or local authority – and receive Housing Benefit, this means you will receive benefits related to the number of bedrooms you need.

There is a shortage of social housing across the UK. With the current Housing Benefit system, we have been subsidising people living in social housing who have more bedrooms than they actually need.

This change will encourage you to think about the number of bedrooms you have and will help us make the best use of our limited social housing. It will also mean that families who live in overcrowded accommodation may be able, with the assistance of housing associations and councils, to move into larger homes.

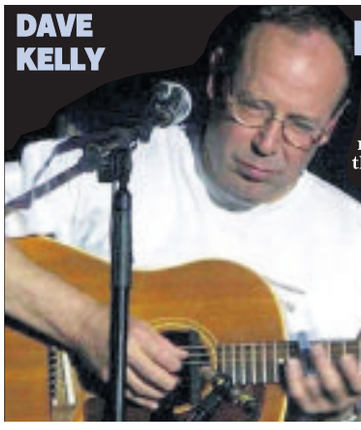

People who rent from private landlords already receive Housing Benefit in this way, and we want to make it fair for everyone.

If you are going to be affected, you should have already heard from your local authority.

You may be able to get extra support and some people, like pensioners, are exempt.

To find out more visit www.gov.uk/housing-benefit or contact your local authority.

THE FACES EXPERIENCE

● Kingsmeadow Live; Kingsmeadow Stadium, Jack Goodchild Way, Kingston; March 23, 8pm; £12; kingsmeadowlive.com.

It's all too beautiful

A night of classic 1960s and 1970s rock from two of the era's most iconic bands kicks off in Kingston this weekend, writes Ross Logan.

Kingsmeadow Live plays host to the Faces Experience, who will be belting out all the greatest hits from pioneering rock groups the Small Faces and Faces.

Formed in London's East End in 1965, the Small Faces are regarded as one of the UK's most influential rock groups of all time. Hits included Itchycoo Park, All or Nothing and Afterglow of Your Love, as well as the concept album Ogden's Nut Gone Flake, featuring the nonsense "Unwinese" of comic Stanley Unwin.

After the departure of lead singer Steve Marriot in 1969, the group were joined by singer Rod Stewart and guitarist Ronnie Wood to become Faces. The new line-up enjoyed success with hits including Stay With Me, Cindy Incidentally and Ooh-La La, before Stewart's solo success eclipsed the group's and the band split in 1975.

The Faces Experience combine two leading tribute acts into one explosive unit – Stan Terry as Rod Stewart and Small Faces cover band the Small Fakers.

Expect a raucous evening of rock, roll and Deep Joy as the Faces Experience bring psychedelia to Kingsmeadow from 8pm. The night goes on with DJs until 1am, so make sure you have booked yourself in for a Lazy Sunday.

Chamber TUNES

Enjoy an evening with some of the UK's top chamber musicians as part of their second recital tour this week.

The Waldegrave Ensemble, pictured above, will be playing a host of classics, such as Nielsen's Wind Quintet and music from Francis Poulenc and Jean Francaix.

Nielsen himself said about his work: "The quintet for winds is one of the composer's latest works, in which he has attempted to render the characters of the various instruments. At one moment they are all talking at once, at another they are quite alone."

Formed in 2008, this is the ensemble's second recital series, following the success of their first one last year.

The ensemble consists of young musicians who play for orchestras such as the Philharmonia, Orpheus Sinfonia, and the Symphony Orchestra of India.

The series continues with three more recitals featuring music from Benjamin Britten, Vaughan Williams, and Beethoven.

Find out more about part rent/part buy schemes

Shared Ownership Week aims to help first time buyers purchase a new home

The UK's first Shared Ownership Week is being held this week (March 18-24) to highlight the benefits of this part buy/part rent scheme.

During the week, sponsored by the National Housing Federation, would-be buyers will be able to find out about a number of shared ownership schemes, including some in London and the south east.

Among them are developments in the pipeline from Affinity Sutton, one of the largest providers of affordable housing in England. It will be building 10,000 homes in the UK in the next 10 years.

One of its projects is Kingston Heights. This £70 million mixed-use development is being built on the site of a former power station in Kingston and is due for completion in spring 2014.

When finished, it will have 136 apartments, including 18 homes available through shared ownership.

The development will also include an upmarket 150 bedroom hotel with meeting, banqueting and conference facilities. Kingston Heights will be eco-friendly, benefiting from a highly sustainable district heating system that will provide all the heating, cooling and hot water requirements for the development.

Kingston Heights is within walking distance of Kingston train station with direct services to London Waterloo.

Prices will start from £62,500 for a 25 per cent share of a one-bedroom apartment (full purchase price £250,000). A deposit of just five per cent is needed (£3,125).

Yvette Ruggins, sales director of Affinity Sutton, said: "At a time where more and more people are finding it difficult to save for their first home and also to meet the deposit requirements, shared ownership is an ideal solution.

"It offers buyers an affordable route into home ownership, enabling them to buy a home in the area they live and/or work.

"Shared Ownership Week is a fantastic initiative to find out more information and we want to make people more aware of how straightforward it can be to purchase through the scheme.

"We have a wide selection of exciting developments available through shared ownership all over the country, in particular London and the south east."

For more information, contact Affinity Sutton on 0300 100 0303 or email: sales@affinitysutton.com. Information on all homes available through Affinity Sutton can be found at: www.affinitysutton.com

Are you fit to drive at your age?

Some drive when they shouldn't – others stop too soon

Each year, hundreds of thousands of drivers could be making the wrong decision about their ability to drive because they lack the tools or advice to adequately assess their skills behind the wheel.

At the age of 70 – and every three years thereafter – drivers must declare whether or not they are fit to drive.

This self-declaration is not made on the basis of any formal medical or driving test, but relies on the judgement of the individual.

While no similar study has been completed in this country, if the picture in the UK is similar to that in the US and Australia, then of the estimated 500,000 motorists turning 70 this year, up to 170,000 might eventually stop driving too early and some 50,000 continue driving with poor levels of ability.

There are currently 3.9million driving licence holders in the UK aged 70 or over.

This number is set to increase dramatically. The Government has predicted that of the UK citizens alive today, around ten million will reach their 100th birthday.

A new report by TRL (the UK's Transport Research Laboratory) for the RAC Foundation – Driving Choices for the Older Motorist – analyses data from several countries and finds that self-assessment tools can give older drivers useful feedback about their skills, but they cannot replace the professional assessment of driving abilities.

Further validation of self-assessment tools would be needed before they were promoted more widely.

Professor Stephen Glaister, director of the RAC Foundation, said: "All drivers should regularly consider their fitness to drive, but matters really come to a head when we reach 70 and have to declare that we are fit to be on the roads. In general, older drivers have an enviable safety record but it is clear that faced with this critical yes or no decision many motorists simply do not have a realistic view of their capabilities.

"While this will mean there are drivers who are unfit to be on the roads, there will be many others who have prematurely hung up their keys. This will have a huge impact on their ability to live an active life, access essential services and take part in social activities.

"The RAC Foundation does not support compulsory retesting at a certain age because this presumes that on reaching a particular birthday, people's physical and mental capacities change radically.

"But we do see an important need for an ongoing dialogue with motorists and encouragement from officials and the medical profession for all of us to regularly consider our abilities – whatever our age."

Currently there is no regular or systematic use of self-assessment tools across the UK, though some local authorities, including Devon, Suffolk and Sussex promote their use.

Surbiton Ladies one win away

Surbiton Ladies boosted their chances of reaching the WHL Premier Division European/Championship play-offs with a 6-1 demolition of Slough on Saturday.

A hat-trick from Sarah Page, pictured, plus goals from Sarah Haycroft, Georgina Twigg and Hannah Coulson keep Surbiton in fourth and in the final play-off berth with just one game to go.

Victory over Canterbury on Saturday will secure their place, while anything less will leave the door open for fifth-placed Bowdon Hightown to step in.

Push back at Sugden Road is at 2pm.

Toby's on song

New Malden skier Toby Deighton is off to the Alps this week to represent Great Britain in the British inter schools in Chamonix.

The 14-year-old heads to France to compete in the slalom and giant slalom disciplines.

Toby, who attends Richard Challoner School in New Malden, has enjoyed a good start to the year winning two silvers and a bronze in the super-G, giant slalom and slalom at the English Alpine Championships last month.

His 12-year-old brother, Harry, also won bronze at the English Championships.

Gold for Finn in the pool

Kingston Royals Swimming Club added 11 medals to their tally on week three of the Surrey County Championships.

Finn Harman, 14, led the way at the Guildford Spectrum on Saturday with gold in the 200m butterfly.

Jude Boden, 10 (200m butterfly), Sophie Whelan, 11 (200m butterfly), and Lucy Hawley, 12 (100m butterfly), all won silver medals.

There were a pair of bronze medals for Dylan Connolly, 12, and Thomas Urry, 18, while Emma Klugman, 13, Caitlin Thomson, 13, and Alex Fry, 15, picked up bronze medals.

Dowson's lonely stand

by TIM ASHTON
tim.ashton@london.newsquest.co.uk

Round we go: Nathan Koranteng rounds Bury keeper Marcus Garnham but there was no end product
SP72987

Kingstonian boss Alan Dowson is taking a long, hard look at himself in the mirror in the face of a growing problem.

Following last weekend's 2-0 Ryman Premier League defeat at home to Bury Town, Ks are 10 points off the play-offs in ninth spot.

Saturday's defeat means Dowson's men have not won in six league games, and have scored just two goals in that time.

And there were was more woe for Dowson from Saturday after Wade Small was sent off before half time for two bookable offences.

Dowson said: "When results are not going your way, management is the loneliest job in the world.

"I've taken a long, hard look at myself in the mirror and I know that all we need is a goal and a win – it does not matter if the ball comes off someone's back-side, we need a win.

"I'll never rule us out of the play-off race until it is a mathematical impossibility because I have seen crazy things happen in this league before."

Small is expected to miss two games when his ban begins in two weeks' time.

Dowson said: "We could have done without that, and indiscipline is something I need to address because we're picking up too many bookings."

Ks travel to struggling Lewes this weekend, before hosting Lowestoft on Monday night.

Dowson said: "Lewes is going to be tough. Both sides are struggling and form goes out the window.

"But we need three points and I know we can beat them. We have to."

Surbiton Men's double vision

Surbiton Men are fighting on two fronts as the MHL Premier Division season nears its end.

A 3-1 win over Hampstead & Westminster on Saturday keeps Surbiton second in the table with one game to go.

Victory over Brooklands MU this weekend will seal a place in the European/Championships play-offs – goals from James Tindall (two) and Ben Tibble did for Hampstead.

Then, on Sunday, Surbiton beat Oxted 6-1 to reach the EHB Cup final for only the second time in 30 years.

A Chris Grassick hat-trick, plus goals from Tibble, Tindall and Alexander Penney set up a final meeting with Hampstead & Westminster on May 4.

Bang bang: James Tindall was a double goal-scorer over the weekend for Surbiton
SP73023

SPORTS*brief*

GOLF: Scott Hastings, pictured above, from New Malden has been selected as one of three Surrey golfers to represent Great Britain at the Special Olympics Golf Masters in Macau next month.

RUGBY UNION: Kingston go to Old Tiffinians this weekend in their penultimate game of the Surrey Division One season. They are still in Surrey Shield action after last weekend's quarter-final clash with Chipstead was postponed due to a waterlogged pitch.

FOOTBALL: Kingstonian FC Football Academy have announced two trial dates. They are due to be held at the Goals five-a-side centre on Old Kingston Road on April 2 and April 9, from noon. For details, go to scl-online.co.uk.

BOWLS: The Surrey County Indoor Bowling Association fell just short in their quest to reach the final of the Liberty Trophy, going down 120-93 to Essex.

PARKRUN: Laura Hruska of Stragglers won the women's race of the Crane Park meeting in 24 minues, 35 seconds.
